At our last meeting Dale Hemman of Olympia spoke to a standing room only audience in the old security terminal at KCLM. Dale stressed the need to prepare for just about any emergency in an area where the flying season is short and often further shortened by sudden weather changes. Since it may be a long time before anyone comes looking for you, it is necessary to think "survival". Is the plane you're flying in equipped with a 406 Mhz ELT? Do you have a personal locator like a Spot Tracker? More than anything else drinking water and a way to stay warm are essential for survival. Dale, himself experienced an engine out emergency, but by keeping track of where he was, he managed to land in a lake right at the shoreline and close to a road where help could be obtained. *At Our Next Meeting

On May 19*

Doug Sandau will discuss present and future projects at KCLM. This is our opportunity to have input to what is taking place at our airport. This type of interaction is a main reason for Clallam County Pilots Association's existence. Please make every effort to come and don't hesitate to bring another aviator along.

The Wings of Freedom Tour

We hear from Alan Barnard

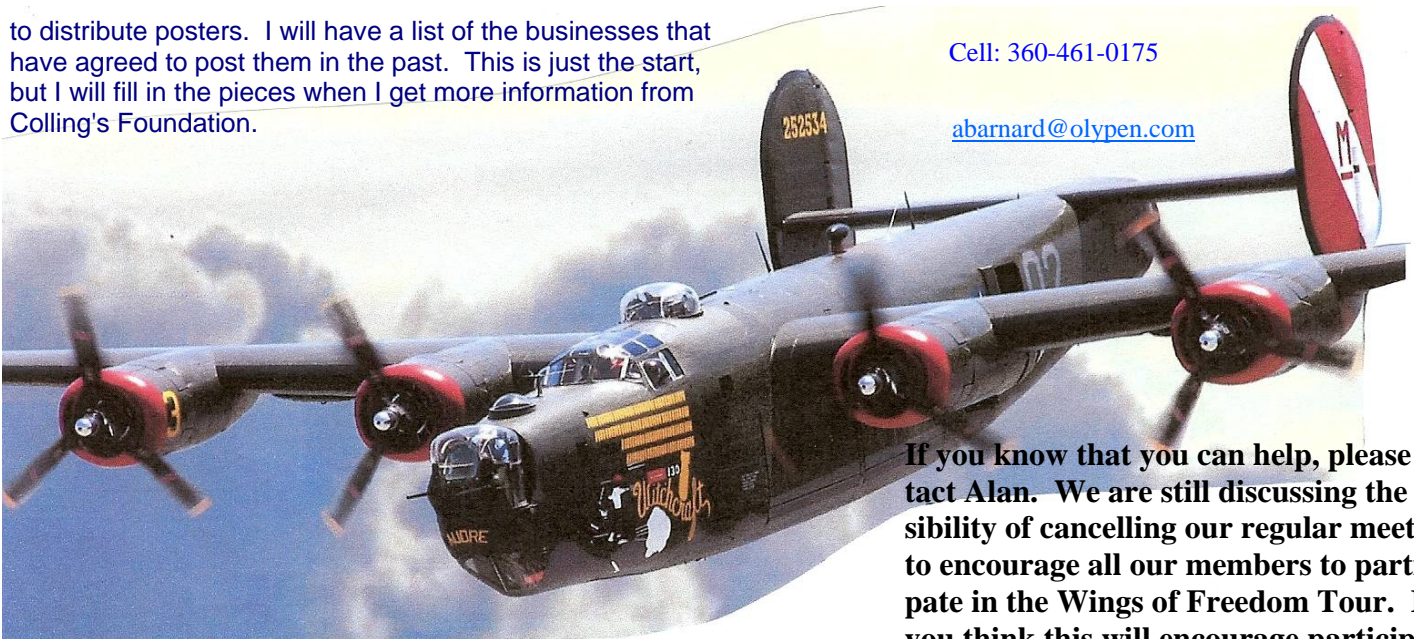

The same three planes shown here will be on the tour. The dates are June 20, 21, 22. I don't have the actual time of arrival yet nor do I have the current charges for taking a ride on them but that will come on the new poster when they arrive. I will need volunteers as usual from our pilot groups for security and I will have a list ready in the near future to fill in the schedule. I will also need helpers to distribute posters. I will have a list of the businesses that have agreed to post them in the past. This is just the start, but I will fill in the pieces when I get more information from Colling's Foundation.

If you know that you can help, please contact Alan. We are still discussing the possibility of cancelling our regular meeting to encourage all our members to participate in the Wings of Freedom Tour. If you think this will encourage participation, contact a board member.
